The Corporate Governance Coalition for Investor Value (the “Coalition”) was formed to provide a forum to advocate for strong corporate governance policies and federal securities laws that promote long-term value creation for investors. The Coalition strongly supports H.R. 4015, the Corporate Governance Reform and Transparency Act, which would provide for effective oversight of proxy advisory firms.

Proxy advisory firms wield an enormous amount of influence over corporate governance in the United States, and have in a sense become the de facto standard setters on a host of issues related to the operations of public companies. Despite this influence, proxy advisory firms operate with a startling lack of transparency, significant conflicts of interest, and are prone to make errors when developing vote recommendations. More troubling, 97% of the industry is controlled by only two firms – Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) and Glass-Lewis.

In 2014, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued staff guidance intended to address many longstanding concerns related to the proxy advisory firm industry, however it has become clear that more needs to be done. H.R. 4015 is an appropriate next step to build off the SEC’s 2014 guidance, as the legislation would require proxy advisory firms to disclose any conflicts of interest, grant companies sufficient time to respond to errors or flaws related to recommendations, and demonstrate that they have the capability and expertise to develop informed and objective analysis. These modest steps would help promote transparency and competition in an important industry.

The Coalition strongly supports this bill and urges the Senate Banking Committee to move companion legislation through the Committee swiftly. Additionally, nearly 300 public companies of all sizes signed a letter in support of the bill in 2017, demonstrating the broad support for H.R. 4015.
We thank you again for prioritizing this important initiative and look forward to working with you and members of the Committee as the legislative process moves forward.
